European Academy of Andrology

Home	News/Events	Membership	Examinations	Journals	Society Links	Education	Contact-Us

Welcome
Statutes
Council
Centres
Member list

Upcoming events

2012 7th ECA

Examinations

Application deadline

10th Oct 2012

Welcome

The European Academy of Andrology is an association of scientists and clinicians active or interested in the field of andrology. Founded in May 1992, the EAA is a non-profit making organization which aims to promote research into and raise public awareness of male reproductive health. The EAA has a worldwide scope in terms of membership, research and influence but retains a clear focus upon Europe - with it's seat based in Münster, Germany and andrology training centres across Europe.

Andrology: The branch of medicine concerned with men's health, particularly male infertility and sexual dysfunction . Andrology is literally the study of man (Greek andros, man). It is the male counterpart of gynecology

- Raising scientific standards of andrology in Europe
- Providing specialist training for physicians in andrology
- Increasing public awareness of andrological issues
- Encouraging research & publishing academic papers

Learn more about the European Academy of Andrology through it's statutes.

Search for a member of the EAA or find an andrology centre

May 2012
Read the EAA President's Note
Keeping you updated on the latest activities and progress in the EAA

ANDROLOGY

New Journal : Andrology

This joint publication of The European Academy of Andrology and the American Society of Andrology will replace The International Journal of Andrology and the Journal of Andrology.
Read more...